NO CHANCE FOR RESUMPTION OF RUSSIAN TRADE

Conditions Outlined By State Department Ends All Possibility.

Guarantee of Property Rights One of Fundamentals Required.

Washington, March 26.—Conditions laid down by the state department as prerequisite to any resumption of trade relations between this country and Soviet Russia, while dealing exclusively with the economic frailties of the Soviet system, were regarded today as striking so fundamentally at its entire structure as to have ended practically all possibility of an early resumption of commercial intercourse between the two countries.

In a statement yesterday replying to the recent Soviet message to this government proposing a reopening of trade relations, Secretary Hughes declared the United States could not consider such a course until fundamental changes had been made in the economic system underlying the Soviet regime. Safety of human life, guarantee of property rights, free labor and observance of the sanctity of contracts were among the requirements laid down.

Only by meeting these requirements, the statement said, could Russia hope to achieve economic rehabilitation and rebuild her foreign trade.

Issued by Secretary Hughes at the conclusion of a two hour discussion of the Russian question at yesterday's cabinet meeting, the statement, which was transmitted to the American consul at Leningrad for delivery to the Soviet authorities, was regarded as having the solid backing of the administration in defining the nation's future policy in dealing with the Bolshevik government.

The Chamber has approximately a half membership of about 500, with a total membership of 750, which leaves about 250 to be re-solicited and new members to be sought.

TWO CARS WRECKED IN HUDSON AVENUE

Hudson avenue which is rapidly becoming the scene of automobile accidents.

Friday evening, The accidents occurred within a half a block of each other and within two hours time. In the past few months no less than seven accidents have occurred within two blocks on Hudson avenue.

At 6 o'clock, C. W. Lingfelter of 440 Central avenue was driving rapidly north on Hudson avenue, when a heavy truck owned by Vince, started across Hudson at St. Clair street, in avoiding a collision Lingfelter swung his car which swerved and dashed over the curb in West St. Clair street, striking a tree. One front wheel was knocked off and the spokes were damaged. Lingfelter was not injured.

About two hours later W. B. Lanning of Rosebud avenue, driving a Ford sedan, endeavored to pass another car. Seeing a possible collision with a car from the other direction he drove into a heavy stone hitching post just south of St. Clair street. The front of his machine was badly wrecked, both wheels being broken, and the hitching post was torn up. Lanning suffered a cut across the eye and mouth, and he was otherwise bruised and lacerated.

EASTER MARKET HAS FINE DISPLAY

Stands Piled High With Attractive Merchandise For After-Lent Menu—Eggs Are Low.

Despite the regular Saturday showers (this is said to be the 13th Saturday and ought to break up the jinx) there was an army of housewives on market this morning preparing to celebrate the feast of Easter.

The market dealers were ready for them and every stand had a large supply of fine fresh looking vegetables and fruits. Every inch of space was filled with stands and they were placed in the aisles and also outside in the entrance hall. There were extra people who asked for market space, and many churches had stands with the best looking cakes, cookies, pies, breads, jellies, jams, salads, deserts, nuts, candies etc., at reasonable prices.

Today's market was swamped with eggs. They were being sold fresh, pickled and colored. Egg prices varied. The lowest mark reached was 23 cents a dozen, which was the popular price for several places and other prices were 24 and 25 cents a dozen.

Butter sold at 55 and 60 cents a pound. There were plenty of dressed chickens for sale and could be had from $1 to $2.25 each.

Wholesalers say that they have had a better business the past week than for several weeks, and have practically cleaned up on vegetables. Potatoes are cheap at $2.50 per 150 pound bag, a drop of 15 cents. Strawberries are worth $4 a crate of 25 pints.

There were plenty of strawberries on the retail market for 40 and 45 cents a quart. The price of leaf lettuce varied at 20, 22 and 25 a pound. Last Saturday's price was 20 a pound. Asparagus is cheaper at 15 cents 2 for 25. Tomatoes are 25 a pound. Other local vegetables and fruit prices are: Peas 25 a quart, 30 a pound, celery 8 to 20 a bunch, radishes 3 bunches for 10 cents, spinach 25 cents 12 peck, cauliflower 20 cents up per head, rhubarb 10 cents a bunch, cabbage 4 cents a pound, head lettuce 10, 15 and 20 cents a head, cucumbers 10 to 20 each, egg plant 10 and 15 each, beets 10 a bunch, carrots 3 bunches for 10 cents, green onions 10 cents a bunch, oranges 20 to 60 cents a bunch, bananas 35, 40 and 50 a dozen, lemons 5 for 10 cents, grapes 30 a pound and dates 25 cents a pound.

ORDER RESTORED AT EISELEBEN IS BERLIN'S REPORT

Announcement Says Communists Have Withdrawn from City.

Twenty Are Killed When Police Repulse Attack On City Hall.

Berlin, March 26.—Order has been restored at Eiseleben and Hettstedt, it is announced by the German government. The rioters at Hettstedt blew up the railroad station, however, before they retired to the hills surrounding the town and set up machine guns, which are reported to be firing at security police in the city.

Halle was quiet last night, it was reported, and municipal and utility plants were again in operation. Organizations known as "councils of action" are being organized at Bitterfeld. Government troops have not participated in the operation of suppressing communist rioting in central Germany. It is officially declared and the work of restoring order has been carried on by Prussian security police and local organizations.

Twenty rioters were killed when the security police in Eiseleben repulsed an attack on the Eiseleben city hall last night. The police casualties were two killed and three wounded.

Sporadic fighting was reported today from Hettstedt and Mansfield. Leuna was reported quiet.

COMMUNISTS STILL WORKING IN MUNICH

Paris, March 26.—The communist agitation in Munich is continuing, according to dispatches to the foreign office, which reports the breaking up by the police of a procession displaying red flags. Another message says that rioters broke into the railroad station at Dreselau and carried off the cash box.

REVOLT LEADERS DENY FORCES ARE DEFEATED

Halle, Saxony, March 26.—Reinforcement of the communist rioters at Mansfield and Eiseleben was in progress this morning. Armed workmen were moving from Halle and vicinity in the direction of these two towns. Their declared purpose was to join their comrades notably the party which after many hours of fighting had been driven out of Eiseleben by the security police.

According to information from both police and communist quarters the purpose of the movement was the surrounding of the police at Eiseleben. The fugitives from Eiseleben were reorganizing today on the hills northwest of that town, communists here reported.

The security police, however, claimed to have routed the Eiseleben fugitives when they sought to entrench themselves.

Reports that Hettstedt had been quiet were denied by communists here today. The communist forces had blown up the railway station, and were reported to be in control of the city according to these sources and the situation in the region was regarded as threatening.

Here in Halle which is credited with housing the communist committee directing the Saxon revolt, conditions were growing more tense today. The town so far has remained quiet. An effort was on foot among the working men to bring on a general strike, but no clashes as a result of this movement has occurred up to noon.

NEW INDICTMENTS VOTED AGAINST 10 BALL PLAYERS

Eight Others Jointly Named On Three Separate Charges.

Five New Defendants Are Included In List of Charges Filed.

Chicago, March 26.—One hundred and forty-four indictments naming 18 men were returned by the Cook county grand jury as a result of the second investigation into the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series to the Cincinnati by Chicago White Sox players.

Eight separate indictments against each person were returned. The indictments named the 13 men indicted in the first investigation and also five men charged with taking part in arranging the alleged conspiracy. These men were Cary Zook and Ben Franklin of St. Louis; Ben and Louis Levi, said to be from Des Moines and David Zeller, address unknown.

Each indictment today contained three counts, charging conspiracy to defraud, obtaining money under false pretenses and conspiracy to do an illegal act. Bonds were fixed at $3,000 for each indictment or $24,000 for each man. Robert H. Grove, state's attorney, announced after the indictments were returned that he already had started extradition proceedings against the men named and that every effort would be made to apprehend them at once.

Each indictment named: Eddie Cicotte, pitcher, who confessed to receiving $19,000 to throw games; Claude Williams, pitcher, who confessed to receiving $5,000; Joe Jackson, outfielder, who confessed to receiving $5,000; Fred McManis, utility infielder; Chick Gandil, first baseman; Swede Risberg, short stop; Oscar Felsch, outfielder; Buck Weaver, third baseman; Hal Chase, former major league first baseman; Bill Burns, former major league pitcher; Abe Attie, once champion featherweight boxer; Rachel Brown, alleged gambler; Joseph J. Sullivan, an alleged gambler.

The cases against Cicotte, McMullin, Jackson, Felsch, Weaver, Risberg, Jackson and Williams recently were dismissed by the state on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence available to convict. The cases against the other men indicted last fall were taken off the court roll.

CONEY'S BACK BROKEN WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS

Natchez, Miss., March 26.—With his back broken and his body paralyzed from the chest down, Lieutenant W. D. Coney, trans-continental flier, whose airplane crashed near Crowley, La., yesterday, while he was attempting a record-breaking flight from Jacksonville, Florida to San Diego, California, today was battling for his life in a Natchez hospital. Physicians said he had about one chance in ten of recovery, and that his condition was "very serious" but the flier himself remained cheerful and expressed the hope he would yet be able to make the flight.

The lieutenant explained that his mishap was due to engine trouble which developed after he had been six hours in the air and which forced him to descend. In landing he struck a tree and was thrown from the machine. He was unconscious when extricated from the wreckage by a farm hand who had witnessed the fall.

Bertha finally revived and is now improving rapidly. The accompanying photograph was taken after the operation was performed.

SMITH BOY IS WARD OF OHIO

Louisiana Court Holds That Licking County Courts Only Have Jurisdiction In Case—Karpis's Appeal.

Holding that Harvard A. Smith, pretty brown-eyed boy, is a citizen of Ohio, and that the courts of that state have jurisdiction of his care and custody, Judge J. H. Stephens awarded the custody of the child to Mrs. Edith O. Harner of Chicago, Wednesday and denied that Mrs. A. B. Karpis of Shreveport had any right to the boy, although his parents are both dead and the little fellow had been a resident of Louisiana since last October.

The opinion was rendered by Judge Stephens following a habeas corpus proceeding instituted by Mrs. Harner to get possession of the child from Mrs. Karpis. It was shown by court records produced at the trial that adoption of the child by Dr. A. B. Karpis and wife was placed on record in Caddo parish, Louisiana, March 15, and that adoption of the child by George W. Harner and wife of Chicago, was granted by the probate court of Licking county, Ohio, March 16, one day later.

Judge Stephens held that under the law the child is under the jurisdiction of the courts of Ohio for the reason that his parents lived in that state at the time of their death and had never lived in Louisiana and that the courts of Louisiana have no control over him. Notice of appeal to the Louisiana supreme court was given and Judge Stephens ordered the child in the custody and care of Mrs. A. B. Karpis pending the higher court's decision.

New York, March 26.—A federal jury here today awarded $49,894 to R. H. Macy & Co. in its $500,000 suit for damages against the Victor Talking Machine Co. for alleged restrictions placed on the sale of records from 1914 to 1917. Under the Sherman law the amount will be trebled, making a total award of $149,894. The plaintiff also won five times counsel fees, which may equal $50,000.

The Macy Co. charged that the Victor Co. would not allow its distributors to sell their records in the years mentioned, which, it was said, constituted conspiracy in restraint of trade, in violation of the Sherman law. The counter charge was that the plaintiff did not regard the fixed prices on the records but was cutting the rates.

BELIEVE BALLOON CREW DRIFTED OVER LAND

Pensacola, Fla., March 26.—On the theory advanced by Lieutenant W. F. Reed, instructor in meteorology at the naval station here, that the naval balloon message since it left here Tuesday morning with five men aboard could not have drifted to sea in the face of southerly winds prevailing where it was last reported. A naval dirigible with two bags supplied and a double crew aboard went from here early today to search the forests of West Florida.

Montana seaplanes and naval vessels continued their search of the coast and in some instances ventured far to sea in an effort to find a trace of the balloon or its occupants.

Lieutenant Reed believes that the crew of the drifting bag would have cut a way the basket to prevent it dropping into the gulf and would have taken refuge in the rigging.

SHOW TEXAS AS LAND GRABBER

Maps Give It 1,875 Miles That Don't Belong to It, Says
Geologist.

NO PROPER STATE MAP MADE

Texas System of Land Survey Inherited From Mexico and Spain—
Current Maps Made by Many Individuals.

Austin, Tex.—According to Dr. Robert T. Hill, former state geologist, who has just finished a study of the topographical features of Texas and is making a report on the subject for the United States geological survey, until recently all existing maps give an inaccurate idea as to the geography of the state, particularly with reference to the courses of the Rio Grande on the South and the Red River on the north. Mr. Hill says that all current maps of Texas locate the Rio Grande, which has always been accepted as the boundary between this country and Mexico, inaccurately. The maps include in Texas a strip of territory averaging 25 miles in width and 75 miles in length (about 1,875 square miles), which does not belong to it. Until the World war, when special surveys of the border were made by the War department, nothing was known of the Rio Grande district. These maps, since published by the department, revealed the mistake in current maps.

No Proper State Map.

There is no map published showing even approximately the physical features of the trans-Pecos section, the mountainous portion of the state. Many of the ranges and peaks are entirely omitted and others are located inaccurately. Doctor Hill has made a special study of these sections of the state and will make known many inaccuracies through the maps he is preparing for the government.

The Davis mountains, well known to Texas residents, are not included on any map. They form one of the principal range districts in the state. To the west of these mountains is a long, narrow strip of desert country, low-lying valley plains about 200 miles in length, running along the Rio Grande, northwest into New Mexico. These valleys are not defined on any map published.

The Diablo country consists of undulating plains, with peaks of various sizes and kinds, extending into the Sacramento mountains of New Mexico. The railroad follows a valley scooped out of the vast plain, extending northwest into New Mexico and southwest into Mexico. The traveler from El Paso to the New Mexico line is always either upon or in sight of this plain for about 250 miles. The surface is so smooth, except where it is broken rarely by peaks, that it seems as level as a floor. The plain is inclosed on all sides by a wall of higher mountain ranges. But none of these features has been placed on a map.

Based on Settlers' Notes.

The county and state maps of Texas are inferior to those of other states, Doctor Hill said, because of the different systems of land survey used in Texas. In other states the land has been accurately surveyed and divided into townships and sections. The surveying was done and field notes made under United States supervision, as maps of the country were always necessary to acquire land. The Texas systems were inherited from Mexico and Spain. Scrips or warrants were issued to individuals, who went out, took some natural object for a corner, measured off a block of acres called for in the shape and direction chosen, and sent the notes to the land office. Current maps were compiled from these notes, made by many individuals, and the topographic information supplied was nearly always meager.

Up to 1890, when the geological survey began in Texas, there was only one point in Texas with its exact location on the earth's surface known. This was a monument to David Crockett, near the old land office, on the capitol grounds at Austin. It was located by the United States geodetic survey.

About 1890 some women were giving a bazaar for patriotic purposes in Austin. They desired some souvenirs to sell at the bazaar, and at their request the old monument was broken into pieces and taken to the bazaar. Thus perished the only point in Texas definitely located on the earth's surface.

Bans "Yellow Streak."

Washington.—A yellow streak is well enough in a gold mine, but has no place in the make-up of humans or noodles. In noodles it denotes use of a dye in place of eggs, the Department of Agriculture holds in an announcement, and federal food inspectors have been instructed to shut the gates of interstate commerce to such dubious characters.

Thugs Return Hero Medal.

Connellsville, Pa.—While a negro woman held up Mrs. Annabelle Gemas, along the West Penn street car line near the Gemas home, two negroes searched her, took her pocketbook, containing about $30, but returning a gold service medal which the woman's husband, the late George Gemas, had been awarded for service in the Spanish-American war.

Be Not Dismayed

WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

Some 15 years ago a bright young woman went into a manufacturing concern as a bookkeeper, and in about 10 years she had acquired a thorough grasp of the business. She had not performed many of the mechanical processes, but they were simple and she could tell them they were well done. She knew more of the ins and outs of that concern than any of the owners did.

The girl had advanced as far as women, ordinarily went in the period before the war, and was paid about $16.00 a week. She felt she had gone far beyond the average office worker in efficiency, and could not see why she was not doing the work ordinarily performed by a superintendent. The principal owners were away from the office a good deal of the time. They needed some competent person to leave in charge during their absence. She filled the bill admirably.

When she suggested to them that it seemed to her she was earning much more than an ordinary clerical worker, they turned her down. No girl had ever before been paid more than $15.00 in that office. They could not go beyond their limit for women workers.

The outcome was that the girl went off to another city, and when last heard from was getting on well in a big concern and obtaining promotion. Meanwhile the business she had left had hard rubbing. Its troubles were largely due to war conditions, but if she had remained in her old position she could have done a lot to keep the company running full time.

The moral of such a story is that it is pretty poor business to fail to recognize exceptional gifts, even if the possessor of them is a woman. However, young women workers should realize that the girl referred to was no ordinary office worker, who simply did things in a routine way. She used her brains on every bit of work she undertook, and tried to make a constant improvement in all the methods and operations over which she had control.

MEAGER ACCOMPLISHMENT.

In view of the claim of the Republican party that it possesses superior business ability, the country has been disappointed to see how little work the Republican congress accomplished during the session just closed. They had three months since the election to accomplish things, and about all they did was to pass appropriation bills. Several of these failed, and must go over to occupy the time of the new congress.

The so-called emergency tariff bill occupied more time than anything else. A majority of the Republicans are probably glad that it was vetoed by President Wilson. Many Republicans realized that it would have little effect favorable to the farmers, in whose behalf it was supposed to be drawn. On such staples as grain, the price of which is made in Europe, you accomplish nothing by shutting off importations. If less grain is taken from Canada, it means that Canada sends more to Europe, which narrows down the market for the American staple.

Furthermore this bill tried to hand out favors to one class of people only, ignoring the consumers who would have to pay higher for products if it had any effect at all, also ignoring manufacturing interests that may need protection quite as much as the farmers.

The Republican party, has professed to favor a budget system for appropriations. President Wilson vetoed such a bill, for a constitutional defect that could have been easily remedied if congress had been in the mood for this reform. If an amended bill had been promptly passed when congress reassembled in December, the new system could have been the means of regulating appropriations that have just been made, and no doubt much would have been saved the taxpayers.

The new congress must show better spirit, than this, unless it is to encounter a wrathful rebuke in the election of 1925.

CHAS. E. WALLINGTON.
The name of Charles E. Wallington, Attorney of Toledo, Ohio, has been suggested in different quarters as a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

Mr. Wallington is well known by many people in Newark on account of his previous connection with the bottle industry, in the capacity of manager of traffic for The Owens Bottle Company. He has had years of practical railroad experience in his early life and since being admitted to the bar has specialized in transportation and commerce. His appointment as a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission should be looked upon with favor by the commercial world as well as by the railroad employees.

The old hymn says "Fight the good fight with all your might," but the boys need not feel that they must distribute any black eyes around.

The people who work a domestic servant from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m. and a good deal of the time Sunday, are unable to see why the girls are so prejudiced against housework.

Most notable development of the back to the Land movement is that the kids are going into the back lots to start the baseball season.

School pupils deny that they are not interested in geography, as the book of maps is a fine thing to put up between them and the teacher.

Not many of the silk shirt boys are reported to have secured jobs at promoting business economy.

As the result of the sewing classes being conducted in the schools, it is believed that many of the girls will be able to tell how their mothers should make their clothes.

The Congressional Record had only one page the other day. That won't go far toward lining the bureau drawers of the nation.

The laws against profiteering seem to be valid, all except the provisions that give anyone the power to do anything about it.

It is claimed the United States is suffering from a "moral influenza." Anyway, the taxpayers find it hard to cough up.

Every school boy in Newark has a possible chance of becoming president, but those that fool all the time are gravely endangering their claim on the job.

No more demand is reported for safes to hold stocks and bonds, but some folks may be having time locks and burglar alarms put on their cell doors.

The politicians favor good roads, as they help their supporters get the polis.

LXVI.—A Strange Message.

Nancy sat staring thoughtfully at Desmond's brief message: "I am waiting for my answer."

She felt both relief and embarrassment. It meant that the young officer had decided to overlook the unfortunate innuendo of Curtis Stanley's, and would never ask for an explanation. That was relieving.

But it also meant that the proposal of marriage would have to be answered. It would be easy to say: "I can't marry you. I don't love you," but Nancy recalling that big masterful young man and the determination of his pursuit since their meeting at the Stanley dinner party, realized quite clearly that he was not to be easily discouraged by such a refusal.

He would likely say, in answer to her protest: "Very well, I will teach you to love me. I claim the right to be given an opportunity."

To tell him that she could not marry him because her husband was only temporarily absent, not dead as he had been given to understand by Connie and Curtis, was too ridiculous to consider now that the affair had progressed so far.

She sighed deeply and looked up from the letter, spread open in her lap. With a start she realized that Dr. Langwell had been coolly reading every word of the brief message.

Before his significant smile, she flushed furiously, both with embarrassment and anger that had dared to read her letter over her shoulder.

"Is the Major an ardent correspondent?" he asked teasingly. "YOU should know," she replied with spirit.

Edith had trailed away to the grand piano at the end of the room and was playing soft chords which gradually merged into the "Berceuse."

Langwell bent over Nancy. "I think I could write you ardent letters. You have a curious way of making one feel exceptionally brilliant and pleased with himself."

"I thought that was your usual state of mind." He ignored the thrust and went on: "I can think of clever things to say when I am with you. It makes you a dangerous woman."

Nancy returned to her letters as though she were a bit bored. "Edith is far cleverer than I—and much more stimulating. She is that rare creature so fatal to men: a good listener."

"Do you know wherein lies your particular charm?" the doctor asked. "Are you dissecting me?" enquired Nancy with a careless shrug.

He ignored the question. "It is your maddening indifference. You lure, you challenge, you defy a man to do something, to say something, to do anything, to be anything."

"I wonder if it is real?" he said speculatively, "or whether it is only a clever mask you wear to hide the vibrant creature underneath."

Nancy's brows raised. "Is it the small boy instinct to tear off butterfly wings that makes you discuss me in this fashion? Or has surgery become second nature?"

He made no reply for a moment, then he said slowly: "Yes, you're clever! And you're dangerous! I wonder what life holds in store for you and me? For surely it is going to mean something to us, together."

Nancy sprang up with a gay little laugh, gathering together her scattered letters. "How unoriginal! All men make that same observation at one stage of each flirtation. The Book of Fate must have an unabridged edition."

She joined Edith at the piano. "You still play beautifully, Edith. It's the first time I've heard you since I came to visit."

Edith looked up with a smile. "I can only play when I am happy," she said simply, and went on weaving soft harmonies with her white fingers.

Her maid came in with a slip of paper on a salver. "For Mrs. Burrard. It is a telegram phoned from town."

Nancy opened it curiously and read: "My poor Nancy I have just heard. My heart aches for you. Am leaving for Chicago at once. Be brave. Conie."

LISTEN, WORLD!

(By Elsie Robinson)

We're raising a fearful fuss about Democracy. Treatises and tomes, lecture course and conventions, you'd think it took four years at the State Normal to learn how to be democratic. And all the time, who's the most democratic being on earth? A BABY. A little, wobbly baby, who doesn't know a thing except how to blow bubbles, has the world skunk when it comes to being democratic.

How does the baby do it? Does he read up the latest encyclopedia on the relation of Labor to Capital and then grasp his fellow by his horny hand and call him "Brother?" Nope, he just beams on you and takes you on faith. WHICH IS TRUE, THERE REALLY IS TO DEMOCRACY.

All the wisdom in the world isn't going to get any nearer to democracy than that baby's ignorance. For democracy is something you're born with—a basic condition—like having a nose and the need to use it. A vulgar euphorism, but it's exactly where it belongs. The more you elaborate the theories and needs of souls and noses, the less good you get out of them. You'd better accept them as they are, in their original crudeness and freshness, and set 'em to work. That's the only way you'll ever arrive anywhere.

Most of our civilizing and educating processes are bunk. Our strongest souls are the least decorated ones—the simplest, the nearest to nature, like babies. They don't confuse their direct, God-given impulses by a lot of theories and dogmas. They go straight after what they want—they go straight after their brother man.

If they run a risk by so doing, it's a cinch he does too. So it's 50-50. The keenest realize that you're on the fair road to Democracy and there's some chance of your enjoying the cosmopolitan atmosphere of Heaven if you ever get there.

TENAS GREEN BUGS WILL NOT MENACE OHIO WHEAT.

The "green bug" or southern grain house, which is now present in Texas and threatening the wheat, will not likely get as far east as Ohio. T. H. Parks, extension entomologist of the Ohio College of Agriculture, states that the insect is a small green plant louse which winters in Texas as an adult. During cold weather in February and March in that state it may multiply very rapidly and cause the wheat to turn yellow before it has made much growth. After the crop is damaged, many of the bugs develop wings and are carried by the wind to new fields. In 1916 Mr. Parks observed them being carried by the wind from damaged wheat in northern Oklahoma to fields in southern and central Kansas. Serious damage followed to the wheat and oats crop.

Insect parasites usually put a stop to the damage. These require warmer weather to develop than the green bug requires. Warm spring weather puts a stop to the green bug outbreak. Mild winters followed by a cool spring make such outbreaks possible.

ITALIANS EAGER TO LEARN.

The Italians of Akron, Ohio, are earnest students of the language, customs and history of their adopted country, according to Citadino Americano, an Italian weekly of that city.

"Day by day," it says, "we realize more fully the splendid knowledge our people, men and women, are acquiring in the night schools and home classes, and never before have we seen as many attending so faithfully and so eager to learn."

In the Bowen and Bryan schools this year the attendance has been particularly large, and a great majority of those enrolled are Italians, 39 of whom were on the Honor Roll of the Bowen school for perfect attendance during January. The average daily attendance of all of Akron's Americanization classes to date is 1924."

"Sweet are the uses of adversity," quoted the Wise Guy. "Still, being ground down is a mighty poor way to make fellow sharp," replied the Simple Mug.

The average price he heard, all ages, of cattle on farms in the United States, other than milk cows was $35.82 in 1917, $44.22 in 1919 and $31.41 in 1921.

Five hundred Rhodes scholars have thus far been appointed from the United States, representing 172 American colleges and universities.

"NOTHIN' LIKE STARTIN' YOUR VACATION EARLY"

How To Attain the Perfect Figure

To the Editor of the Advocate:

Pretty near every place you go now days, where they's a mixed gathering, the people that ain't talking about Mrs. Harding's coat is discussing their diet and how to get fat or thin, a specially the last-named and whenever you walk in anywhere where the hostess don't expect no Co. you generally always can find a book in the living rm. table on how to get skinny and etc. so it seems like this is the most important problem of the day outside the Yap situation and the women folks is all spending hundreds of dollars on books that will learn them how to not look so much like a group.

Well the trouble with spending money on these kind of books is that the party that buys them ain't sure that the party that wrote them is qualified to know what they are talking about. For inst. the author of "Eat and Grow Skinny" or "Diet and Longevity" may have a waste line that is 4 laps to the mile for all as we know, and if they can't control their own border how can they learn others to do the same?

Obesity begins at home like everything else and what I am getting at is that the only people that can learn you how to reduce or build up is people that has did it themselves and is in the flesh on the neck in brushing the hair in their own border how can they learn others to do the same?

Why I Qualify

Well friends, I don't like to brag but it looks like they wasn't nobody better fitted to give advice on the fat and lean question than the undersigned and if I can be of any assistants to my friends that is worried about their weights why I will overlook my prejudice in regards to bareness secrets of my private life and sacrifice myself on the altar of pro bono public.

Let's be any doubts as to my qualifications along these lines, why here is the figures by which a person finds out how much they should ought to weigh according to their height. Multiply the number of inches you are over 5 ft. tall by 5 1/2 and then add to 110. Well friends I am 13 1/2 inches over 5 ft. tall and multiply 13 1/2 by 5 1/2 and you get 74 1/2 and when you add that onto 110 it makes 184 1/2 avordupois which is exactly where I tip the old beam. In other words my weight is ideal like pretty near everything else.

"How does the boy do it?" you ask. Well friends, I am going to lay all my cards on the table and tell you the system. I generally always follow in the footsteps of my father and if my fat and skinny friends will also try and eat. I never talk at meals as when I talk I like to be heard. I never accept no invitations to meals at nobody's else's house unless I already been there and know that mine host is a good provider.

Now in regard to exercise. I never let nobody feed me and I always dress setting up exercises. I generally manage to lose a little this way.

But if a person really wants to limit their diet I don't know of no better game than to buy a car or take up golf. In a short while you won't be ordering nowhere near as much groceries or if you do the grocery won't send them. But as for golf itself making a person fat or thin it depends on who you are playing with. Most of the birds game that I can generally take off a couple of strokes.

Personally it seems kind of funny to me why they should be so many people worrying these days about getting stout and undress myself. I always shave standing up. Shaving 3 or 4 times per wk. is enough to keep the jaws supple, but if I find I am a couple of over-weight I shave every day and reduce the flesh on the neck in brushing the hair I can also generally always manage to lose a little.

"When the door-bell rings, I always walk, not run, to the nearest exit."

When the door bell rings I always walk, not run, to the nearest exit. In the morning I always snatch the paper to quicken the eye. I hold it myself and turn the pages myself. When I see that my thumbs is getting too fat I roll my own cigarettes and I always smoke a plenty of them as they's no exercise that brings more muscles into play than coughing and tossing in bed.

I stay on the water wagon as I find that this takes a whole lot of weight off of the hips.

As a rule my weight don't decline very much but when I feel like I am too light I lay off the typewriter a few days and add on a couple finger nails. I always wash my hands before retiring and my face when necessary, though one of my friends says it is silly to wash your face when you go to bed as they won't nobody be likely to see if its dirty or clean and its just as foolish to wash it when you get up because you ain't been nowhere to get it soiled. But I do it 2 or 3 times per wk. anyway to reduce the soap.

Sleep Helps a Lot.

Bathing as exercise depends on what kind of a tub you got. The madam frick mine out and bought it by the front ft. and I guess we must of been pretty near broke at the time. Any way when I have took a bath I generally always feel like challenging Houdini.

I go to bed pretty near every night at 9 or 10 o'clock but once in a while somebody comes in to play cards and I take when they can't nobody only a white wings or a bell hop afford to eat anything but roots and herbs. They must be something besides food that makes people bugs out. Maybe they's some truth in the old saying, "Laugh and grow fat" and the combination of income tax and telephone service is too much for us.

Treatment For the Eyebrows.

It is as important to keep the eyebrows from drooping as it is in the case of the hair. You cannot make improvement in your eyebrows until you are rid of this affliction. We are apt to think that when we have washed our faces we have attended to our face all that is necessary, but this is not so as is shown by many women who have drooping in their eyebrows. This is, after all, but the result of uncleanliness.

The following tonic for the eyebrows is very good and can be made at home. Use one ounce of yellow vaseline and eight drops each of rosemary and lavender. After washing the face the eyebrows should be brushed carefully with an eyebrow brush upon which a drop of the tonic had been placed.

For scanty, thin and uneven eyebrows the tonic is recommended for use with a treatment. Apply a little to the finger tips and rub along the line of the brows. Be careful to keep directly on the line as the vaseline will grow hair, and of course, you wish only a fine thin line.

If your eyebrows are so blonde and so invisible that the face is given an expressionless appearance, so that you are made conspicuous, I see no harm in resorting to the use of the eyebrow pencil for temporary purposes. But remember, if you are a light blonde, tint your brows a light brown, not with a black pencil. The black must be used only when the brows are a black or a very dark brown. The eyebrows are in too close proximity to the eyes to use dyes and stains without risk. A burned clove is a substitute that may be used in place of an eyebrow pencil.

Everyday Etiquette

"Will you please tell me the proper way to eat a club sandwich and if it should be taken up in the fingers?" asked Maud.

"Never eat sandwiches with the fingers unless at a picnic. A club sandwich is eaten with a knife and fork," said her aunt.

JOSE COLLINS BEAUTIFUL

STAR AT THE GRAND.
 Miss Jose Collins, the screen star famous in two continents, who is considered to be among the most beautiful women on the screen, will be seen here in her latest photoplay, "Where is My Husband?" at the Grand theater Sunday only.

This photoplay in which she is supported by Godfrey Pearce and a very prominent company, gives Miss Collins the greatest opportunity in her career for the full exercise of her histrionic powers.

The story which is told in "Where is My Husband?" deals with the sentimental experiences of a world famous operatic diva.

The photoplay was adapted from the stage play "The Whirlpool," which it will be recalled was one of the sensational successes last season in both New York and London.

The scenes are laid in the beautiful islands of the Caribbean Sea in the United States and South America. It is said that the scenic settings of this picture for beauty, wealth and detail have never been approached in the realms of the silent drama.

"THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS" AT THE GRAND.

The biggest production yet released under the National Picture Theaters' banner is "The Palace of Darkened Windows," which is announced to first run showing at the Grand theater for three days, starting Monday.

The story was adapted from the book of the same name by Mary Hastings Bradley, is a colorful and picturesque tale of India. The principal figures are Arlee Eversham and her aunt, two American ladies touring the country who meet the Rajah of an East Indian Province. Also in Benares they make the acquaintance of Billy Hill and Capt. Falconer and both the men fall in love with Arlee.

In the spirit of adventure Arlee accepts an invitation to visit the home of the Rajah, which is known as "The Palace of Darkened Windows." She remained there by a ruse and her friends become worried, especially when a Hindoo fagor intimates that Arlee is being held against her will. Billy Hill and Capt. Falconer go in search of Arlee and after many thrilling adventures in the palace learn that the Rajah has fled to the desert, taking Miss Eversham with him. The two rescuers have great difficulty in getting out of the palace and resume their search. Following a clue they reach the Rajah's pretentious Indian encampment, and then in a stirring climax the story comes to a close with Arlee so thankful at being free again that she never wants to see again "The Palace of Darkened Windows."

ALICE BRADY IS A FAVORITE AS ALWAYS.

Miss Brady's work throughout the picture "Out of the Chorus" is consistent and finished. Never has she made a more beautifully appearing heroine than in this role. Vernon Steele, in the role of the harassed young husband, offers a sustained piece of acting, while Chas. Gerard, most accomplished of society villains, manages a most unpleasant role in masterful manner. Herbert Blache, who directed Miss Brady in "The New York Idea," also directed this picture, and no better society picture has come to the screen in many months.

Scenes, such as the theater scene and the reception, and very smart costumes combine to make this a convincing portrayal of certain New York groups.

The picture will remain at the Alhambra theater tonight. Another number on the program besides the Realart feature is Fox latest News Weekly.

BERT WILLIAMS STARS IN "BROADWAY BREVITIES."

Bert Williams is said to have the best material which has fallen to his lot in many seasons in "Broadway Brevities," the big girl and music show which comes to the Auditorium direct from the Winter Garden, New York, and will have its first local presentation at the theater on April 11. This will probably be the last appearance Mr. Williams will make in this type of production, as he has secured a straight musical play in which opportunity is provided for this famous artist to delineate a constructive character.

"ROADS OF DESTINY" AT AUDITORIUM TODAY.

"Nothing that within you lie can change the place of which you are a tiny part. Choose any road, go east, go west, or north or south and meet the thing from which you ran away." That man's life is governed by fate and that he is not allowed to work out his own destiny is vividly portrayed in the new Goldwyn starring vehicle for Pauline Frederick, "Roads of Destiny," which comes to the Auditorium theater on Saturday.

It is a screen version of the famous story written many years ago by the equally famous writer O. Henry. The scenario for the picture was written by Channing Pollock. In the adaptation, the story has undergone a change, as much as the play centers around a heroine instead of a hero. Pauline Frederick portrays the part of Rosa Merrit who finds tragedy and disillusion awaiting her no matter what road she takes. This production necessitates a combining of what one might term four separate pictures, each in itself complete, and all dealing with the same characters who work their destinies out in four different ways showing what results might have been in each case, and in each, Miss Frederick plays an entirely different role, which reveals her wonderful versatility and gives her many opportunities to display that splendid dramatic ability that has brought her to the fore as one of the best known dramatic actresses.

Firstly, she portrays a girl betrayed by her lover. The second episode, the environment of which is Alaska, purports to show what would have happened if a certain man had chosen the north road striding to carve his own way through life. Pauline Frederick as Rose Merritt is a croupier at a roulette wheel in a gambling house, and how fate binds her destiny to that of the "certain" man creates some stirring situations that work themselves out in a thrilling and absorbing story. The next episode shows the same characters in an eastern setting and here Miss Frederick plays a courted society belle and again the same grim fate follows her. The next part takes us to Mexico and Miss Frederick is Rosalia, the Mexican girl who sacrifices everything for love.

Miss Frederick is supported by an all-star cast including the well known actor John Bowers, Maude George, Richard Tucker, Hardee Kirkland, M. B. Flynn, Willard Louis and Jane Novak. This Goldwyn production was directed by Frank Lloyd and photographed by J. D. Jennings. Pathe News is also seen.

"THE KID" ROLE PLAYED BY CASSON FERGUSON.

The inner workings of a well organized band of criminals will be exposed on the screen at the Auditorium theater on Sunday in "The Unknown Wife," the Universal photodrama starring Edith Roberts. The story was written by Bennett Cohen, the widely known novelist and produced under the direction of William Worthington. The leading male role, that of "The Kid," the brain power that drives the crime machine in action is played by Casson Ferguson, comedy added News Weekly is promised.

EILEEN PERCY COMING IN NEW FOX COMEDY.

Eileen Percy, pretty William Fox star, will be at the Alhambra theater next Sunday in her latest Fox picture, "The Land of Jazz." This picture is of the rapid fire comedy type and is said to be the best story in which Miss Percy has appeared.

"The Land of Jazz" has some merry scenes on an island where a Dr. Carruthers is studying mental diseases. One of his patients believes himself to be the greatest shummy dancer in the world and he does the dance so fast and nautically that he turns the whole place into a wiggling mass of humanity.

Miss Percy takes the part of a rich orphan who is trying to get Dr. Carruthers to "make up" with her chum. She does her work so well that the doctor persuades her to marry him.

It is a merry story written by Barbara Le Marr Deely. Jules G. Furthman directed the picture.

BEBE DANIELS STARS IN "DUCKS AND DRAKES."

Bebe Daniels, clever Realart Photo star, is to be screened at the Auditorium Monday in her latest photoplay, "Ducks and Drakes." Miss Daniels is well remembered by her clever work in Realart features, also the Paramount picture "Male and Female."

A BIG PHOTOPLAY IS COMING NEXT WEEK.

Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It" is to come to the Auditorium next week. This is one of the really big picture photoplays of the year.

FOX ACTOR IS ALSO GUINEA-PIG FARMER.

Ryland McKee, the popular leading man with Shirley Mason in "Flame of Youth," a William Fox production announced as the week's attraction at the Alhambra theater Monday.

This is certainly an odd tag for an actor, but it is a paying business, for guinea pigs are very profitable, and adults are worth $3 apiece. McKee has not yet discovered what people want guinea pigs for, but he finds that many do want them and are willing to pay good money for them.

Beside guinea pigs, Mr. McKee has a young brother in school the other day McKee junior was asked to write an essay on animals. He wrote:

"One of the best known animals is the guinea pig. It is a scientific fact that if you hold a guinea pig up by his tail his eyes will drop out. Knowing this, the great grandfather of all the guinea pigs, hundreds of years ago, wisely provided that from then on guinea pigs should have no tails. This probably saved the world from a plague of blind guinea pigs, which, as everybody knows, are worse than blind pigs. It is bad enough to have blind pigs, blind alleys, blind tigers and the famous Three Blind Mice, without blind guinea pigs. I do not know what guinea pigs are for, but I am told that their skins are made into the real sealskin coats."

LECTURE No. 62

If we were to assemble the transmission as developed so far, we would get what is shown in Fig. 3. The sliding shaft on which the forks are fastened are placed side by side, but as if they were so drawn one would not show in the illustration. I show one a little lower than the other.

To study the illustration Fig. 3, we find that if the hand lever is moved so as to connect with the shaft H, and then further moved so as to move this shaft H toward the left, the gear J will be pulled into mesh with the gear E and we will be in low or first speed. If the lever is moved to its original position, these gears will then come out of mesh, or be in neutral. If the lever is then moved to the other side so as to take hold of the shaft H-H and then moved so as to push this shaft to the right, the gears F and K will come into mesh and we will be in second or intermediate speed.

So far we have only two speeds, low and intermediate. Of course, the third speed could be obtained by having a third set of gears. Gears, however, when constantly in use will wear fairly ing to how it is connected to the shaft, is all that is necessary to shift from second to third, or from intermediate to high speed.

So far we have seen how the three speeds, which mean three leverages, are obtained, and we have seen how the gears are shifted at the will of the operator. Let us now see how the car is driven backward or reversed.

Refer for a moment to Figure 2 of the illustrations, which shows an end view of the gears as studied so far. Here the double dotted circle P represents the gear which is connected to the clutch, B and E being the gears on the counter-shaft, and J is the gear connected to the propeller shaft.

By studying the arrows you will find that when the gear P revolves in the direction indicated by the arrow No. 1 the gear B will revolve in the direction shown by the arrow No. 2. As the gears B and E are on the same shaft they will revolve in the same direction. Thus gear E revolves in the direction of the arrow No. 3 with the result that the gear J must revolve in the direction indicated by the arrow No. 4. From this you will observe that J revolves in

For years the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply—even when Buick production amounted to 500 cars daily. Because of the material curtailment of motor car production this winter, the country faces a decided shortage of quality cars this spring and summer.

Consequently Buick dealers are advising motorists to place their Buick orders now because orders must be sent to factory months in advance of delivery.

The reason why the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply is more pronounced than ever in the 1921 Buick. Coupled with the noted Buick power and dependability are added riding comfort, easier control and a beauty and grace that fittingly express Buick worth.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

About Ford Cars—Solid Logic

THE Ford car has been fundamentally right from the beginning. That fact made it "The Universal Car." It has always led in lowest first cost as well as in lowest cost to maintain and operate.

Runabout, Touring Car, Coupe, Sedan, Truck and Fordson Tractor—we have them all and will make reasonably prompt delivery.

Simplicity has ever marked the designing and building of Ford cars, trucks and tractors. Henry Ford and his engineers have always striven for simplicity with strength. The success of the Model "T" Ford car and a great part of the Ford Motor Company's success has come from an early understanding and appreciation of that principle in motor car construction. The fewer the parts in a car, fewer the parts to go wrong. When that simple truth is carried out in producing a car, as it is in Ford cars, trucks and tractors, the result is bound to be a simplicity of design and building that meant simplicity, durability and economy of operation.

This simplicity of construction proves itself in the ease with which Ford cars, trucks and tractors are driven. Four million five hundred Ford cars in daily service proves every claim we make.

More than ever we are sure the Ford car is your necessity—let's have your order today.

Lizzie Watts Lloyd, who resides at 727 Breker street in the City of San Francisco and State of California, Selena Lewis, who lives at 414 23rd Street in the City of San Francisco and State of California, Walter Prichard, who lives in the City of Berkeley and State of California, the unknown heirs of the late Walter Prichard, who lives at 1621 D Street in the City of Lincoln and State of Nebraska, Robert Prichard, who lives in the City of Newark, in the State of New Jersey, but whose more particular address is unknown, Katherine Jones, who lives at 104 Eagle Street in the City of Utica and State of New York, and the unknown heirs of D. Perry will take notice that on the 25th day of March, A. D. 1921, Theodore G. Baker, as Administrator of the bonis non cum testamento annexo filed his petition against them in the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio, reciting several portions of the last will and testament of the late Walter Prichard, and setting out certain facts and circumstances concerning said estate and the beneficiaries therein named, and the duties of the plaintiff in connection therewith, and stating that doubts had arisen in connection therewith in relation to the proper construction of said will and in relation to the powers and claims of the testator in connection therewith, and praying that said will be construed by the court and that the plaintiff be advised as to his powers and duties in connection therewith, and more particularly for instructions to sell a certain piece of real estate in the Village of Granville at the price mentioned in said petition.
Said defendants are required to answer, demur or otherwise plead to said petition of plaintiff on or before the 15th day of June, A. D. 1921, or the said court will on that day proceed to render judgment in said cause.
THEODORE G. BAKER, Administrator of the bonis non cum testamento annexo of the estate of Walter Prichard, deceased, his attorneys, By Jones & Jones, his attorneys. 3-26-21-6t

ALL STARS TO MEET EAST MAIN CHAMPS
To keep in trim for the big battle in this year's basket ball history, the champion East Main squad will play an All-Star game at the Y. M. C. A. this Thursday night. The Allstars will include Alcomb and Harlow as forwards, Stimus, center, Baker and Lewis as guards.
The East Main Champs lost but one game during the regular season, but a select crowd like the one above ought to win. The game is due when they play the champs of the Inter-league basketball league for the Inter-league leadership.
The B. Rustlers and the M. B. Whiteheads will play a preliminary to the Champ-All-star game Thursday night.
The Interleague championship will be played off April 14.

BASEBALL LEAGUE TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT
Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. the second meeting of the Twilight baseball magnates will take place at 7:30 p. m. The baseball season is only six weeks off. This year it nearly crowds the basket ball activities off the sport map.
The league has five teams in it now including: Heiseys, American Bottle, Heath Refinery, B. and O. and the Midland Shoe team. Another will be chosen from the list that is expected to apply.
It is probable that the discussion Monday night will go into details of the league organization.

VICTOR WAREHOUSE WILL OPEN MARCH 30
J. D. Evans of this city has been invited to record the Auditorium on the occasion of the opening of the new warehouse in Columbus, of Perry B. Whitsitt company, March 30, when all the Victor talking-machine dealers in Ohio will be entertained there. The warehouse is the first building in the United States, planned and built as a storehouse and distributing station for Victorolas and talking machine accessories. More than 100 dealers are expected to attend the opening.

MIDNIGHT WHIRL IS SNAPPY ENTERTAINMENT
One of the snappiest shows of the season played at the Auditorium on Friday evening, when Newark's old favorite Richard Carle came back this time as a co-star with Blanch Ring, and supported by a splendid cast.
A fair audience, the size of which was lessened owing to the heavy snow Friday, was most enthusiastic over the production. Runways brought the chorus to the audience, and the manicure maids secured many laughs.
Carle was funnier than ever, and his comedy was up to the minute. Blanch Ring was the same charming entertainer and her strong numbers went big. The "Century Midnight Whirl" is a cleverly arranged revue, with the introduction many novel features, some beautiful costumes, and a well trained chorus.
It is to be regretted that the attraction could not be secured for another date, which would have insured a sell out.

VOLLEY BALL GAME IS SET FOR NEXT THURSDAY
Zanesville's volley ball team has set Thursday, March 31, as the date for the return match with Newark Business men. Difficulty in securing the armory floor at Zanesville has shifted the date of the match. The Newark men will attempt to get a stronger aggregation together than they used at the Y. M. C. A. gym two weeks ago as the floor in Zanesville is much larger and some other features about the game there that will make our local players exert themselves.
Physical Director Allen is working on a few leaders who in turn will pick the crew from Newark.

In large cities in the United States, more than 80 per cent of the commercial business is done by checks or drafts, less than 10 per cent being done in cash.
The British government is granting the sum of $300,000 a year for direct assistance to companies in commercial development of air traffic.

LEGAL NOTICE.
John Almsay whose residence and whereabouts are unknown will take notice that on the 11 day of February, 1921 Elizabeth Almsay filed her petition for divorce against him in the State Court of Licking County, Ohio, on the ground of wilful absence and gross neglect of duty.
Said petition will be for hearing on and after six weeks from March 19, 1921.
